

APCD Journal Editorial Board

1. The APCDJ Editorial Board consists of the Editor(s)-in-Chief, Associate Editors, and Editorial Board members. The Editor(s)-in-Chief acts as the Chair of the Editorial Board. Associate Editors and Board members act as ambassadors for the APCDJ.
2. APCDJ Editorial Board members are selected by the Editor(s)-in-Chief and approved by the APCDA Board of Directors.
3. An APCDJ Editorial Board member serves a term of 3 years.
4. The APCDJ Editorial Board is to assist, advise, and support the Editor(s)-in-Chief with the following activities:
 - Peer review, also help to identify peer reviewers and provide second opinions on manuscripts. APCDJ Editorial Board member should be available to review as many as 12 manuscripts each year;
 - Identify key contributed research, contributed workshops, or issues panel topics suitable for publication and invites potential contributors to submit a manuscript;
 - Identify new topics for special editions and advise on intellectual direction for the journal, giving feedback on past issues, and making suggestions for both subject matter and potential authors;
 - Develop content by writing occasional editorials and other short articles or support an existing or new section of the journal; and
 - Endorse the journal to authors, readers, and subscribers and encourage colleagues to submit their best work.

Volunteers are needed continuously. If you are interested, please volunteer by sending an email to Journal@AsiaPacificCDA.org.
