

APCDA Video Use Agreement

APCDA videos are intended for use by individuals for their personal use or for instructional purposes. When you register for a video, you receive a URL and a password for that video. You have the right to use the video for personal and instructional uses. Your right to use the video is not time limited. Videos may be watched as often as you wish.

We encourage the use of our videos for educational purposes (a class, workshop, or conference). If you are meeting with a group, you can use the link and password provided to access the video. If it is necessary for others to access the videos remotely, it is acceptable to forward the instructions for accessing the video to others, provided those others understand that this information is provided for a specific, one-time use which ends at a specific time and that those others are not authorized to pass on the video access information. For example, you should change the instructions to say something like:

Please watch this video to prepare for the [name of event] on [date of event]

Go to: URL

Password: [video password]

Please delete these instructions after this date.

By accessing or viewing content or media through its website, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and agree to be bound by the Terms of Use (the "Terms") described below and that your use of APCDA videos is at all times subject to these Terms.

Additionally, by accessing any of the APCDA videos, you represent that you are at least 13 years old and that you are fully able and competent to enter into and comply with these Terms.

If you do not agree to these Terms, please immediately discontinue using the APCDA videos.

With that goal in mind, during and subject to the terms and conditions of these Terms, APCDA hereby grants you a limited, nonexclusive, non-sublicenseable, nontransferable, freely revocable license to access and use APCDA videos, for personal or educational purposes, in order to

For clarity, aside from the foregoing licensed uses, you acknowledge that you shall acquire no other rights or licenses for any APCDA videos unless specifically and expressly granted by APCDA in writing.
